PURPOSE OF THIS BOOK

Many yearbooks have been published through the years by many different schools, so we realize that it would be very difficult to add anything entirely new or different to this yearbook.

We do not promise a better yearbook. However, we have tried to put together a memento of our last year of high school. Which the seniors can be very proud of, and which in the future may recall many happy experiences.

This edition was published, not expecting to be a masterpiece in the world of literature. But rather for the enjoyment of the seniors of '68 and friends.

DEDICATION . . .

To those who have stood by us in our school years, aided us in our problems along life's pathway and gave us the encouragement we needed at one time or another during our four years of high school; we, the Seniors thank.

To the teachers we owe more appreciation than could ever be put into words. We also are indebted to our parents who have borne our frustrations and problems along with us these four short years from grade school to graduation.

So to the teachers, sponsors, and our parents; we would like to dedicate this publication.

THE SENIORS OF '68

We tip our hat to every 1968 graduate. May this mighty milestone be just the first step into a bright and happy future.

As Margy (Connie) introduces Pat (Lowell) to Harry (Mark) the sparks fly from their eyes. Wayne (Roger) stands innocently by.

"Hey, look what I won at the Hoopla stand!" says Wayne (Roger) to his parents (Mike and Leanna).

Wayne, you're the silliest fool . . . and the nicest!

"Don't get any fancy ideas Jocko" said Lowell Trying to Roger Conner.

"Now what have I got" says Tim Davis.

"Why is everyone so excited!" exclaimed Roger Conner to Molly Ford.
